

In your opinion, what are the goals of machine learning?

To develop algorithms for making accurate predictions based on data.

To analyze and extract useful information from data.

To understand the fundamental principles of learning and intelligence.

To build smarter computers or robots.

To understand how the brain works.

Free Text

